SETON HALL UNIVERSITY

TRUE BLUE NURSE

The Seton Hall College of Nursing Newsletter - Fall 2019

As this year comes to an end we are very proud of the accomplishments of our alumni, faculty and students. The College of Nursing recognized our alumni who are leaders in nursing and proud supporters of the College at our annual Haley Awards. Read about our rising ranking in US News and World Report and the commitment of our administration and faculty to improving our undergraduate program through assessment and data collection.

The year-end also causes us to pause and contemplate our blessings. We are especially thankful for our alumni and friends who support the College of Nursing throughout the year. I would like to express my thanks and gratitude for the assistance you provide to our students and faculty. You provide endless support of our mission, serve as role models and empower our students to achieve their educational goals. Please know we are truly thankful.

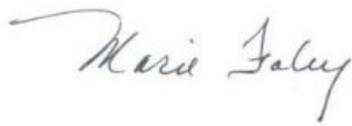

In the College of Nursing, we are preparing our students and encouraging our faculty to respond to and lead a much-needed change in healthcare. To do this, nurses will need to work to reduce health disparities, act boldly to advocate for policy change, be innovative and participate as key members of interprofessional healthcare teams.

Thanks to your support, the College of Nursing has a strong legacy of leadership and our graduates serve as leaders throughout the state and across the country. As dean, it gives me great pleasure to know our graduates are prepared to address the challenges they face in an evolving healthcare environment. Thank you for being the foundation of the Seton Hall College of Nursing legacy and assisting us to develop our students to become the next generation of nurse leaders.

Wishing you and your loved ones a very Merry Christmas, Happy Hanukkah and Healthy

New Year!

Hazard zet Forward and Go Pirates!

Dean and Professor
